General Ledger

Issuing business licenses is a critical part of local government operations. Now you can integrate and define the process in one easy-to-use application with Clarity Business License.

Keep track of the license statuses while keeping your city's businesses on track as well by printing renewal forms when a license is about to expire. Set up multiple user-defined business activities so you can keep all of your license information organized and searchable. You can also track tax statuses for easy billing. Centralized, electronic license information combined with a powerful inquiry function makes your job easier and more efficient than ever.
